Maysvillians to Observe Thanksgiving in Special Union Services to Be Held at Third Street M. E. Church Tomorrow.

The union Thanksgiving service will be held in the Third Street M. E. church Thursday at 10:30 a. m. Rev. J. Hector Savage of the First M. E. Church, South, will preach the sermon. Special thanksgiving music by the choir of Third Street church. Let our people so far as possible lay aside business and other cares and follow the advice of our President by assembling in our houses of worship for a special service of Thanksgiving.

These annual Thanksgiving services are always most interesting and there is always a very large audience. Special interest will be taken in the service this year for two special reasons. In the first place, this is the first union service at which the new pastor of the First M. E. Church, South, Dr. J. R. Savage, has preached. The second reason is that the music will be in charge of the choir of the Third Street M. E. church, which is regarded as one of the best in the city and splendid Thanksgiving music is therefore assured.

This is certainly one day in the year when the people of Maysville should make a special effort to attend church services and the Third Street church should be filled to its capacity.

Cheer Up! Phone 337-W and let McNamara press that suit for Thanksgiving. 28Nov22

This is an extra big feature with an all-star cast. See this picture and this will be one thing you will be thankful for on this day. A picture for all classes.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY PASTOR'S UNION

Maysville Ministers' Union Adopts Resolutions Upon the Death of Pastor John Mullen.

The Maysville Ministers' Union, of which the late Rev. John Mullen was chairman, has adopted the following resolutions upon his death: Maysville, Kentucky, Nov. 28, 1922. The Ministers' Union of Maysville Kentucky has suffered great loss in the going home of our faithful minister the Rev. John Mullen, who died November 24th. He has lived in our midst and has gone to his reward rich in the respect, confidence and love of his fellow workers.

Therefore he it resolved as the Ministers' Union has lost one of its loyal, earnest, and faithful members, that we rejoice in the great joy that is his today in reaping the reward of many years of service for our Master.

While we sorrow because of our great loss, we pray that his mantle may fall upon our shoulders who are left behind to carry on the work of the Lord he loved so well.

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be given to the papers for publication, and a copy sent to the family.

Signed, THE MAYSVILLE MINISTERS' UNION.

NORMAL SCHOOL SQUABBLE MAY GO TO COURTS

Governor Morrow Asked By Big Sandy Folk To Call Special Session of Assembly—Two Men Chosen School Head.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 28.—The courts may be called upon to settle the normal school controversy and define the rights and privileges of the state board of education and the normal school commission, Governor Edwin P. Morrow said today at the close of a conference with George Colvin, state superintendent, and Charles I. Dawson, attorney general. While many calls have been received urging the governor to call an extra session of the legislature to repeal the normal school act Governor Morrow indicated that court action was the most likely solution of the tangle.

Governor Morrow has received many petitions from towns in the Big Sandy valley asking him to take steps to undo the work of the commission which selected Murray and Morehead as the sites for the two new normal schools authorized by the 1922 general assembly. Governor Morrow has the matter under advisement and is not likely to take action for several days, it was indicated here today. Attorney General Dawson is going over the matter with a view of determining what legal steps are necessary to settle the controversy over the selection of officers for the new schools.

At the meeting of normal school commission in Lexington Saturday Robert Green, former member of the state tax commission, was elected president of the Murray school. The state board of education the same day elected Dr. John W. Carr of the department of education, a president of the same institution. Both the commission and the board claim the right to select officers, according to members, and the question of prerogatives probably will have to be settled in the court.

COURT ISSUES A RESTRAINING ORDER ON TAX

Judge C. D. Newell Grants Temporary Restraining Order In Bank Fight On Taxes—Injunction Comes Later.

In chambers Wednesday afternoon Circuit Judge C. D. Newell heard arguments of attorneys in the cases of the Bank of Maysville, Bank of Maysville, State National Bank and State Trust Company against Sheriff C. M. Devore, in which the banks sought an injunction against the sheriff to prevent him from collecting county taxes on the stock of these financial institutions.

After hearing some argument, Judge Newell said that he wanted to go further into the cases before granting an injunction and he granted a temporary restraining order against the sheriff ending the hearing on the injunction. This hearing on the prayer for an injunction will be held next week.

KENTUCKIANS CALLED UPON TO GIVE THANKS

Governor Morrow Issues Proclamation Calling Upon Kentuckians To Give Thanks For Blessings Thursday.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 28.—Kentuckians are called upon "to assemble together around the firesides of home" or at "the altars of their God" to observe Thanksgiving Day, in a proclamation issued today by Governor Morrow.

The proclamation follows: "To the people of Kentucky: "Thanksgiving Day, at the close of autumn, the harvest over, the sheaves gathered in around us, the last sun of Indian summer before the frosts of winter come.

"Thanksgiving Day, the children coming back to father and mother, the wanderer turning his steps to the light of home and to the light of love. "Thanksgiving Day, with its spirit growing kinder, ever gentler, ever broader and more human because on this day, we, His children loving one another more, are clearer to our Father in heaven. In memory of other days and in obedience to the mandate of years, I hereby set aside Thursday, the 30th day of November, 1922, Thanksgiving Day, and call upon our people to assemble together around the firesides of home, at the altars of their God, and that, thrilled with all of the spirit of this gracious, generous day, they shall think kinder of each other, and extend generosity of thought and deed and word to their neighbors and those around them. All in gratitude for the loving kindness which has for another year, arched above us like the sky, and to the end that the commonwealth and its citizens shall be better, richer and happier because of our day of thanks."

KENTUCKY GIRL IS QUESTIONED ON LANUS' DEATH

Bromley Girl Now in Chicago To Be Asked About Affairs of Chicago Millionaire Found Dead In Garage.

Miss Mabel Gray, 35, of Bromley, Ky., was to be questioned by Chicago police Wednesday in the hope she might be able to furnish information about the affairs of "Handsome Joe" Lanus, millionaire auto dealer, which would open a clew to solution of his murder in his salesrooms in Chicago Friday night.

Miss Gray left Bromley for Chicago Sunday morning to attend Lanus' funeral Tuesday, according to her father, William Gray. She is staying with a friend, Mrs. David Altman, at 3705 N. St. Louis avenue, Chicago, Gray said.

Miss Gray was identified by Edmund Lanus, the slain man's twin brother, as the girl in black who was overcome with grief beside Lanus' casket in the undertaker's rooms Tuesday, dispatches report.

Mrs. Edmund Lanus' story to police that Miss Gray had an appointment with the dead man Saturday night obviously grew out of a misunderstanding of the facts, Gray said. He said his daughter was at home in Bromley Saturday night and went to church in Chicago for at least a month before the murder, he explained.

Chicago police thought Miss Gray might know enough about Lanus' affairs to furnish a clew to some enemy.

THE LEAGUE THAT DOES NOT FUNCTION.

Europeans cannot get over the delusion that there must be some way to get the United States into the League of Nations. In one of his speeches Mr. Lloyd George said that he favored "every reasonable concession" in order to induce the United States to associate itself with the league. He added that until all the nations of Europe and the United States were in the league that body would be crippled. Of course the only European countries which have not joined the league are Germany and Russia. All the others, big and little, old and new, are members. It has seemed very strange to the people of the Western Hemisphere that Europe cannot make the league work, if the league is at all practicable, without the aid of distant America, impoverished Germany and chaotic Russia.

And the league does not work. It has been called upon in vain to perform the most important duties of its covenant and it has failed. Poland, a member of the league, invaded Russia without first submitting the boundary dispute to the league. Russia retaliated by invading Poland. The league of nations did nothing.

Armenia appealed to the league in 1920 to protect her from Turkish invasion. The league did nothing and Armenia was wiped off the map of independent nations.

Persia, a member of the league, appealed to the Council when the Russian Soviet army invaded her in 1920. Poor Persia believed that Article X, guaranteed her against external aggression. But the league was asleep and Persia had to buy peace from Russia.

When the Soviet invaded Georgia that independent state asked the league to act under Article XI. The league did nothing.

In the fall of 1920 the league woke up to row between Poland and Lithuania and extracted a promise of a truce from both sides. A month after the suspension of hostilities the Poles took Vilna and they have it yet, scorning all league proposals looking toward compromise.

If the league covenant meant anything the council would have called a halt on the Greeks at the very beginning of their Asiatic campaign—a project which led to the Smyrna horror and the danger of involving half of Europe in another war. But the league, as usual, did nothing.

If a league which includes the British Empire, France, Italy, Spain, Belgium, The Netherlands—all of Europe, in fact, except Germany and Russia—has no force, how does Europe expect that the addition of this country to league's membership would help?

Is it American money that would help? This country has been liberal with Europe in money matters; so liberal that some Continental nations smile at the mere idea of repaying our loans.

Is it American armies and fleets that the league would like from us to enforce its orders? We shall reserve them for our own wars if unfortunately wars should come.

The United States is not going into the league, because the league is nothing but a name. The instant there is friction between Old World nations the members of the league line up on the sides of their particular advantages. They do not think in the terms of the Covenant. They think in terms of nationalism.

It would be wrong to say that the league is dead. The league never has been alive.—New York Herald.

In certain other trades, especially in the large cities, there has been a tendency to slacken labor as well as shorten hours. The exorbitant cost of building in this region is considerable due to this fact. The net effect has been to reduce the real effort expended far below an eight-hour day. The damage done is borne by the whole country, by all workers in every form of activity. The total wealth created by the nation drops just so much and everyone suffers inevitably. There is a tendency toward longer hours again in Europe. This country can maintain its present high standard of living, its widely shared comforts and luxuries, only if its workers produce their full output. The country has become great through hard work, and only by hard work can it hold its supremacy. The full adoption of the eight-hour day must come with full appreciation of this truth.—New York Tribune.

As Secretary Hughes so well pointed out at Symphony Hall, Uncle Sam never threatens if he does not mean business, and that perhaps is one reason why no foreign invader has threatened American shores since the War of 1812.—Boston Transcript.

COMMENT

Local rivermen are predicting a big river in the Ohio Valley this winter. They point out that we have had a very dry summer and that there was no spring or summer rise of any consequence.

The usual interest in the race for petty city offices has thus far failed to materialize this year. It appears that there are not the usual number of men about town who think they could serve as policemen with efficiency. What's the matter? Will council this year fail to have its usual big political tussle for its December meeting?

It now appears that the grand jury for the December term of court will have little to do aside from inspecting the public buildings. Thus far there is not a single case referred to the jury from the lower courts and not a prisoner awaits examination. This is the first time such has been the case in Mason county in fifty years.

There are hundreds and thousands who do not appreciate the so-called common things of life and there are those who whine that they have nothing to be thankful for this Thanksgiving. Life, Health and Happiness are the greatest things. Are you thankful for them?

Lewisburg residents who fought in the courts the payment of the special thirty cent school tax have lost their case in the state's highest court and the costs of the litigation are thrown upon them. The cost of fighting the tax would probably pay the tax of these residents for several years.

Several old-time hoboes have made their appearance in Maysville during the week. It has been several years since we have seen any of the old-time "Weary Willies" with pack and tin can coffee pot tied to their body. We imagine it would be rather uncomfortable to sleep about a small fire or in a box car these nights. Have you a good home to be thankful for?

Both political parties in the state are clamoring for high class candidates for governor. We too would like to see the best men possible in both parties put forward for the race. Wouldn't it be interesting to see a race between Judge C. D. Newell, Democrat, and Judge Charles Kerr, Republican, or between Dr. Arthur Yager, Democrat, and Hon. Fred Sackett, Republican?

A dirty faced youngster in our end of town asked us yesterday if Old Santa Claus was going to be at the court house this year. We referred him to "Billy" Stockton, who is Santa's official representative in these matters and who can be counted on every time.

We fellows with little brains just cannot help but wonder at the fellows reputed to have big brains some times. There's Prof. Tierman, famous law instructor, for instance. We might say, however, that it was not Prof. Tierman's brain power as a law instructor that has made him so famous here lately.

What delightful hosts are they—
Life and Love!
Lingeringly I turn away,
This late hour, yet glad enough
They have not withheld from me
Their high hospitality.
So, with face lit with delight
And all grattitudes, I stay.
Yet to press their hands and say:
"Thanks.—So fine a time! Good night!"

on his farm flock for the year in cooperation with the extension division of the College of Agriculture to show the value of recommended practices in feeding and taking care of hens. Being without tankage two days last January caused his flock of 167 White Leghorns to lay 220 eggs less than month than they laid the previous month, according to one of his reports. His flock was the third highest producing one out of the 47 for the year ending November 1, each of his hens having laid an average of 164 eggs during the 12 months.

Mr. Howard, who started his records with 167 hens in his flock and ended the year with 71 hens, kept a mash made of bran, shorts, hominy hearts and tankage before his birds at all times. They also were given a grain feed of corn and wheat. After the records had been running for several months he added oats to this grain feed. In one representative month during the year, he used a total of 112 pounds of bran, 135 pounds of shorts, 157.5 pounds of hominy hearts and 67.5 pounds of tankage in making up his mash. The same month he fed a total of seven bushels of corn and 225 pounds of wheat. Although the tankage was left out of this feed for only two days one month, the egg production of the flock dropped 320 eggs before the hens could be brought back into laying after the tankage again was added. Like many other successful farm poultrymen, Mr. Howard hatches his chicks in an incubator and broods them under a colony brooder, thereby keeping his hens for egg laying only. His work in cooperation with the college has made it possible for him to give his neighbors many other practical pointers in the feeding and care of hens so that they will lay more eggs.

New York. — Maybe it was the thought of the liquor consumed by Hattie, the elephant which died after all, which has hardened the hearts of the thorough presidents against providing sustenance to elephants in general. Anyway, when a request for $900 appropriation to feed another Central Park elephant came up before them, they flatly refused to make it. "It's too bad to have an elephant starve," they explained, "but men on the payroll will starve if we spend so much money on elephants. Take your choice." At the present writing sentiment seems in favor of the men.

Having their horoscope cast is one of the latest fads of New York society women. In fact, some of the devotees of the science of astrology go a trifle farther than having their own horoscope read. Some of them will not purchase jewelry until an astrologer tells them whether with the facts that can be secured, the jewel will be lucky or unlucky. The latest, however, in the way of horoscopes came to the Travel Department of the American Express Company. A society woman and several of her friends contemplated booking for the luxury cruise of the Mauretania to the Mediterranean, leaving New York in February, requested the hour and day of the launching of the Mauretania. This information, the Travel Department was informed, would be submitted to an astrologer, and if the planets said the vessel was lucky and that the cruise would be a good one, the prospective patrons would then take up the question of accommodations. Being interested, the Travel Department officials decided to have horoscopes cast on the Mauretania and the cruise by the leading astrologer of the country, Miss Evangeline Adams, a descendant of President John Quincy Adams, with studios in Carnegie Hall, was chosen. The horoscope cast by her for both the luxury cruise and the vessel were propitious. The Travel Department added these horoscopes as part of its information to prospective clients.

Upon the heels of the announcements of more Shakespearian productions than we have known in many seasons, comes the crowning one that Ethel Barrymore is to be presented by Arthur Hopkins in "Romeo and Juliet." That will be a performance even to rival her brother John's "Hamlet," which has taken the city by storm. "Romeo and Juliet" will follow "Rose Bernd," in which Miss Barrymore is now playing, at the Longacre theater. We have not as yet been told who will be cast as "Romeo."

end of some wandering earthquake. Close to Times Square, it was, which is New York's heart, at that hour of the day. We were walking calmly along when the sidewalk began undulating beneath our feet. It was particularly disturbing until we heard other people exclaim about the same thing, so that we knew it was no personal visitation. It seems that it was all due to a leak in the air pipes used in the construction of the new subway at that point. The air rushed out and pressed against the shell of earth and pavement sufficiently to cause the agitation.

MAYOR COUZENS OF DETROIT MADE SENATOR

Millionaire Mayor of Detroit Is Chosen Successor to Senator Newberry By Governor of Michigan.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 29. — James Couzens, millionaire mayor of Detroit, was named United States Senator from Michigan today to fill the seat vacated by the resignation of Truman H. Newberry.

"Mayor Couzens will go to Washington unembarrassed by promises of political patronage or pledges as to his policies," said Governor A. J. Groesbeck, in making public the appointment.

"He can represent the state without being bound by ties of any kind."

The new senator will take office at the beginning of the regular session in Congress in December.

Although recently reported in ill health, Couzens has regained his strength and old-time vigor.

Newberry resigned following a stormy senatorial career, which resulted from charges of excessive expenditures during his election campaign when he defeated Henry Ford.

Beginning his career as a "news butcher" on a train, Couzens became one of the wealthiest and most influential men in public life in Michigan.

In 1915 Thos. Edison sent James E. Lawver from his laboratories to demonstrate his phonograph to the Maysville people. Mr. Lawver was very successful. In one week he sold $1,000 worth of Phonographs and last Saturday while in this city he purchased for himself from J. T. Kackley & Co., an Edison Phonograph and had it sent to his home in New York. Mr. Lawver is an expert judge in all musical instruments. This act shows his sincerity and good judgment. Having been called by his country for overseas work he has not been with Mr. Edison.

GRAND JURY REFUSES TO INDICT IN MURDER

Story of "Pig Woman" Evidently Is Not Believed by Grand Jury Investigating Hall-Mills Murder Case.

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 28.—The doors of the grand jury chamber in the Somerset county court house at Somerville, N. J., were thrown open this afternoon and the foreman, Alfred B. Gibb, announced that the jury had refused to indict Mrs. Frances Noel Stevenson Hall or anyone else for the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

"No action," was the official description of the jury's conclusion after hearing sixty-seven witnesses, among them—and the last to be called—Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman," whose astonishing "eye witness" story of the double killing placed her in the position of a star witness for the state.

Apparently the grand jury did not believe Mrs. Gibson's tale and the bold claims of "corroboration" by the officials that made her yarn a basis of their case did not materialize to the satisfaction of the grand jury.

LEAGUE PLANS UNIQUE SERVICE.

The Epworth League of the Third Street M. E. church is announcing a most unique service for next Sunday evening. It is the annual "Epworth Herald" day which means one of those attractive, peppy programs, which for their originality have become noted throughout Methodism. Mrs. Albert Ogden will be the leader of the service and the program heading reads thus: "Poetry to tell swift serial story, Moving Pictures," at League meeting. Plan to come.

Leader Service—Efficiency.
